Keep Your Child Healthy and Thriving

It's important to track your child's growth and developmental milestones. Well-child visits are a great way to help prevent illness and keep your child healthy. These routine checkups are recommended through age 3 years, and yearly from ages 3 to 21. Well-child visits are at no cost for CalOptima Health members!

What to expect during your visits:

- At all visits, the doctor will ask questions about your child's development and behavioral, social and emotional concerns. A developmental screening should be completed at 9, 18 and 30 months of age.
- The doctor will perform a physical exam to check your child's growth.
- Recommended vaccines may also be given during these visits.

Don't forget about oral health

Healthy teeth are an important part of physical health. Make sure your child completes their first dentist appointment by their 1st birthday. Schedule routine dentist visits at least once every 6 months. Early and regular dental checkups can help prevent cavities and other oral health problems.

- Your child should get topical fluoride treatments at least twice a year to prevent cavities.
- Dental visits are covered by Medi-Cal.
- If your child does not have a dentist, call Smile, California at 1-800-322-6384 (TTY 1-800-735-2922) or visit smilecalifornia.org to find a dentist near you.

Did you know? Developmental screenings are completed by a doctor to look at your child's development and identify any delays in your child's growth and learning. The doctor will ask questions about your child's language, movements, behaviors and emotions.

Monitoring Diabetes to Protect Your Health

Diabetes is a health condition that can increase blood sugar (glucose). There is no cure for diabetes, but there are steps you can take to control it.

You are more likely to develop Type 2 diabetes if you are not physically active and are overweight.

Signs of diabetes

Extreme thirst

Frequent urination

Headache

Blurry vision

Nausea

Diabetes Test Levels

	Fasting Glucose	A1C
Normal	99 mg/dL or below	Less than 5.7%
Pre-Diabetes	100–125 mg/dL	5.7%–6.4%
Diabetes	126 mg/dL or above	6.5% or above

How do you know if you have diabetes?

The A1C test is a blood test that measures the average amount of glucose in your blood over the past 3 months. This test helps with diagnosing and treating diabetes.

Follow these diabetes care tips:

- Exercise daily.
- Check blood sugar levels at home regularly.
- Get an A1C test at least twice a year.
- Complete a diabetic eye exam every year.
- Take diabetes medicines as prescribed by your doctor.
- Check your feet daily. Look for cuts, changes in color or swelling.
- Eat a healthy diet. Eat small portions at the same time each day.

If you have questions about diabetes, call CalOptima Health Customer Service at 1-888-587-8088 (TTY 711). We have staff who speak your language. Please visit us at www.caloptima.org/healthandwellness.

Keeping Asthma Under Control

What is asthma?

Asthma is a lung disease that causes airways to tighten, making it hard to breathe. There is no cure for asthma, but it can be controlled.

Common asthma symptoms:

- Problems breathing
- Coughing, wheezing or shortness of breath
- Chest tightness or pain

An asthma attack can happen when you are exposed to asthma triggers (things that cause asthma):

- Smog
- Perfumes
- Pollen, flowers and trees
- Exercise
- Dust and mold
- Pets and animals

Ask yourself 3 questions to know if your asthma is well-controlled:

1. Do I have asthma symptoms or use my quick-relief inhaler more than 2 times a week?
2. Do I wake up more than 2 times a month because of asthma symptoms?
3. Do I need to refill my quick-relief inhaler more than 2 times a year?

If you feel your asthma is not well-controlled, schedule an appointment with your doctor.

Ask your doctor:

- Do I need lung function tests?
- Do I need asthma controller medicine?
- Do I need a peak flow meter?
 - ☑ If yes, when and how do I use it?
- Can you fill out my Asthma Action Plan?
- When do I need a follow-up appointment?

Asthma medicines

- Controller medicine (controller inhaler)
 - ☑ Taken every day
 - ☑ Helps cut down swelling, tightening and mucus
 - ☑ Medicine may take up to 2 weeks to start working
- Quick-relief medicine (rescue inhaler)
 - ☑ Should be used occasionally
 - ☑ Opens airways fast to stop an asthma attack
 - ☑ Can be taken before exercise or if you will be exposed to a trigger

Tips:

- Create an Asthma Action Plan to help you know what to do during an asthma attack.
- Talk to your doctor to learn which medicine is best for you.

Don't Wait, Vaccinate!

Our immune systems get weaker as we age, putting us at a higher risk for certain diseases. Vaccines are one of the easiest and safest ways to prevent these diseases.

Who do vaccines protect?

- Yourself
- Your loved ones
- Your community

Ask your provider or pharmacist about the vaccines you need today. These vaccines are available to CalOptima Health members at no cost.

What vaccines are recommended?

Vaccine	Age	Dose
Tetanus, diphtheria and pertussis (Tdap)	Can be administered as early as 2 months	1 vaccine per pregnancy 1 booster every 10 years
COVID-19	6 months and older	1 dose yearly
Influenza (flu)	6 months and older	1 dose yearly
Shingles	50 years and older	2 doses separated by 2 to 6 months
Respiratory syncytial virus (RSV)	60 years and older	1 dose
Pneumococcal	65 and older	1 dose

For more information on vaccines, visit the CalOptima Health website at www.caloptima.org/en/HealthAndWellness/Immunizations.

Let's Talk About Mental Health and Pregnancy

Hormones during pregnancy and childbirth can cause changes in your mental health. It's common for new parents to go through mood changes, but 1 out of every 5 people will develop serious mental health problems.

Constant care can keep you and your baby healthy and help your doctor spot potential problems during and after pregnancy.

Your mental health matters

Here are some ways to focus on your mental health:

Create a plan with your doctor to maintain a healthy pregnancy through birth and after delivery.

Screen for depression at least once during pregnancy and again after delivery.

- Depression is a mental health condition that can include strong feelings of sadness and make it hard for you to take care of yourself and your baby.

Complete a postpartum checkup with your OB-GYN or primary care provider 1 to 12 weeks after birth.

- Caring for yourself can be hard while your body is healing and when you're caring for your new baby. It's important to keep up with your and your baby's medical appointments, even if you feel well.

Give your family a healthy start by joining CalOptima Health's Bright Steps maternity program. Call Customer Service toll-free at 1-888-587-8088 (TTY 711).

- A personal care coordinator will provide education, important reminders and resources for a healthy pregnancy.

Did you know? You can get a no-cost $50 health reward for completing your postpartum checkup. Go to Page 3 for more information.

For mental health support, call CalOptima Health's Behavioral Health Line toll-free at 1-855-877-3885 (TTY 711) 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. We have staff who speak your language.

Get Help Early for Memory Concerns

Dr. Shilpa Jindani, a CalOptima Health Medical Director, talks about dementia and the importance of talking to your doctor soon if you have memory concerns. She offers guidance on signs to look for and what to do.

“As a doctor, I meet patients showing early signs of dementia. Mrs. Robinson came in with her daughter, who was worried about her mom’s memory lapses. Mrs. Robinson didn’t think it was a big problem but during our talk and tests, it became clear she had trouble with memory and finding words. After referring her to a specialist, she was diagnosed with early-stage Alzheimer’s disease.

“We talked about ways to maintain and slow the progress of the disease through regular exercise, a healthy diet, memory exercises and medicine choices. We provided Mrs. Robinson and her family with clear information about the condition, its progression and treatment.”

People with dementia may have problems with:

- Memory
- Attention
- Communication
- Reasoning, judgment and problem-solving
- Vision issues

Signs of dementia:

- Getting lost in a well-known neighborhood
- Forgetting the name of a close family member or friend
- Forgetting old memories
- Not being able to complete tasks independently

What to do if someone you know might have dementia:

- Talking — Talk about scheduling a visit with a provider to share noticeable changes and concerns, such as getting lost or losing track of time.
- Screenings — Ask about dementia screenings during the Annual Wellness Visit.
- Planning — Create a care plan so the person living with dementia can share their wishes with their family, care teams and legal professionals.
- Writing wishes — To learn about writing wishes with an advance directive, visit www.caloptima.org/en/HealthAndWellness.

Mrs. Robinson’s journey highlights the value of seeking medical help for memory concerns early. Talking to your doctor can lead to a timely diagnosis and a better quality of life.
